A step-by-step guide to Proofreading247's simple-to-use service

1. The client decides what style of English they would like (British/American) before uploading their document to our servers. A note to the proofreader can be added at this stage, denoting any special requirements. They then choose when they would like the document returned, and a price – which depends on word count and return date - is quoted accordingly. If this is agreeable and is accepted by the client, payment is made at this point.

2. As soon as the job has been accepted by an appropriate member of our team, the client will receive an email of confirmation. At this stage, the client can send further messages to the proofreader should there be any changes to their requirements, or if they have any further questions.

3. The proofreader begins working on the document, checking for spelling and grammatical errors and consistency, as well as dealing with punctuation, style and structural issues. In the case of academic texts, referencing is verified also. Any changes made are tracked and made clear to the client through standard features of the word processing software.

4. When the proofreading is finished and the document is ready, it is uploaded to the server and is made available to the client who is advised of this by email. Our recommendation at this stage is that the client reviews the changes made, either choosing to accept or reject them according to their wishes. This process can be made far easier and quicker by accepting all of the changes in bulk. It is also possible at this point to further contact the proofreader if the client has any final questions.

   Please follow the link to start a new proofreading project

Why use Proofreading247?

The necessity of implementation of such work on editing and proofreading of the scientific dissertation is conditioned by the fact that the author of the article may not notice his or her own mistakes for a long time, which may have a significant influence on entire process of the defence and publishing of the dissertation. A great influence regarding the correct structure and literacy of the dissertation is played by the factor, stating that the scientific community perceives scientific researches only in the format of accurate and correctly presented information. Considerable part of scientists and the specialists pay great attention to this particular aspect, since their professional recognition and development will depend on professional proofreading and editing of the text of the dissertation.

Taking the aforementioned into consideration, it can be assured that professional proofreading and editing of text of the dissertation is crucially important and is a modern element of preparation, defence and publication of the dissertation. The stages of processing of the dissertation regarding proofreading and checking are supplemented by the consultative support on behalf of the proofreading company, which significantly eases down the interaction and the mutual understanding between the proofreading specialist and the author. Efficiency in the system editing and proofreading of the dissertation in English is provided by the understanding of the native English speaker proof-reader of the sense and the essence of the article of the dissertation, which eases down the perception of text.

Given factor allows providing intelligibility and the effectiveness of the dissertation. With the presence of such methods of work, related to checking and proofreading of the dissertation, the top level results will always be guaranteed. It allows efficient use of the given dissertation in numerous scientific projects. Considering the competition in technological scientific world, editing and proofreading of the dissertation will be the crucial instrument of achieving the result.

We would certainly be keen to help you with the proofreading you require.

The cost of proofreading your document is based on the word-count and the time you require the work done. Documents with a tight deadline therefore have a higher price. Please use the price calculator providing on our website to estimate the price
http://www.proofreading247.co.uk/getaqoute/

All of our proofreaders are native English speakers, educated at least to Masters level (some hold a PhD) with extensive university teaching and examining experience. We offer a proofreading service, not editing or co-authoring - this means that we cannot change the meaning of your work, but we can correct the grammar. All of our proofreaders are native English speakers, educated at least to Masters level (some hold a PhD) with extensive university teaching and examining experience.

We can offer to do a free sample of one or two pages, then you can check the quality of our work. Please register on our website to use Free Sample Service. http://www.proofreading247.co.uk/free-sample-proofreading/

We are open 24/7 (weekends, bank holiday as well) so you can submit your document to us at any time and you do not have to book our service in advance and minimal turnaround time is 24 hours.

If you have any questions regarding the use of our proofreading service, please feel free to contact our specialists or visit our website at http://www.proofreading247.co.uk. Our website contains detailed information about the proofreading and editing services.